

New Life for a New Generation

Tom Lin listens intently to Colton, a student leader in the InterVarsity chapter at Arizona State University, at the National Leadership Institute.

Dear Friends,

Thank you for investing in the spiritual lives of students and faculty through InterVarsity. Your financial partnership, prayers, and involvement have sustained and grown InterVarsity's ministry this year. I'm thrilled to share this annual report with you.

In the 2023-2024 school year, InterVarsity met the spiritual longing of this generation by inviting students into Christian communities that worship, pray, and study the Bible together. Your support helped us welcome a new class of freshmen to over 700 campuses and sent thousands of students to draw nearer to Jesus at spiritual retreats, camps, and conferences. Your investment in the next generation provided leadership training for students who will lead on their campuses this year, and in their churches, workplaces, and communities in the years to come. And through your generosity, more InterVarsity campus ministers and volunteers joined our mission to reach new campuses and corners than we have seen since before the pandemic.

We began this year with a sense of expectation and hope, and we finished it celebrating all that our Lord has done.

I hope the following pages fill you with joy at God's faithfulness to this generation.

Rejoice with us!

Tom Lin,
President and CEO

We see the campus with hope.

Since 1941, we've seen God's faithfulness to each generation.

You may have heard that this generation of students is lost, lonely, and anxious. That some struggle to build strong friendships. That they're always on their phones. That many are heading to campuses that are microcosms of our fragmented and polarized culture, where the odds of flourishing are not in their favor.

Nevertheless, we've seen too many miracles to count out any generation. For over 80 years, we in InterVarsity have watched God meet college students and move powerfully in their lives. People, in all kinds of circumstances who were headed in one direction, made U-turns of repentance and received healing and grace. We remain as committed as ever to reaching this generation of college students with the real hope of Jesus. That's why we approach the campus with hope. And in the 2023-2024 ministry year, that hope did not disappoint.

Student leaders gather at InterVarsity's National Leadership Institute to be further equipped for ministry on campus.

Creating Communities of Belonging

On over 700 campuses, students and faculty in InterVarsity chapters met regularly to pray, study God's word, worship, and learn how to follow Jesus together.

The focus is on Jesus during the weekly InterVarsity worship at UC Santa Barbara.

Gen Z

Is Finding New Life

2,440 came to faith through InterVarsity this year.

We are celebrating each person who moved closer to Jesus.

Thousands of students heard the gospel through InterVarsity, many of them for the first time. We rejoice that so many Gen Z students defied expectations, choosing Jesus and his example for their lives. This was a 33% increase in new believers over last year.

We made 4,038 calls to faith in 2023-2024

Students are learning to see their campus as a harvest field.

As they grow in their love for Jesus and for their classmates, students are encouraged to pray for their non-Christian friends and practice making calls to faith. Staff and students made 4,038 calls to faith at InterVarsity events this year. There is nothing more formative for a young leader than seeing their friends respond to Jesus!

Campuses Are Waiting

Actively working to reach tribal colleges, HBCUs, and community colleges.

Today there are two million students enrolled at schools who have no access to a campus-based Christian community. Many are community colleges, tribal colleges, HBCUs, and other state and private schools. There are a variety of reasons these places are unreached; some are in remote locations, some lack local churches able to support ministry. InterVarsity is working to recruit and train skilled campus ministers who are motivated by their love for students and willing to relocate. Once reached, students in these places often respond with great openness to the gospel. They are just waiting for someone to be sent.

124 ministries praying to reach Every Campus.

In 2018, InterVarsity and Cru began a strategic partnership to help establish a gospel movement on every college campus without one. The EveryCampus movement was born. There are now over 124 ministries praying and coordinating their efforts, and together we've seen the number of campuses with no known ministry decline from 1,142 to 683 over the last five years.

Gen Z:

Hope for the Future of the Church

InterVarsity helped form over 5,000 faithful student leaders this year from Hawaii to New England.

We're working to meet the need for faithful leaders by investing in promising students who are leading on their campuses now, and who will lead the church in the years ahead.

Learning To Lead

"I started learning what it meant to be a leader, how you could make spaces for people to be welcome and for them to learn about God and Jesus."

— Lily Beth, Brooklyn College

Taking Risks

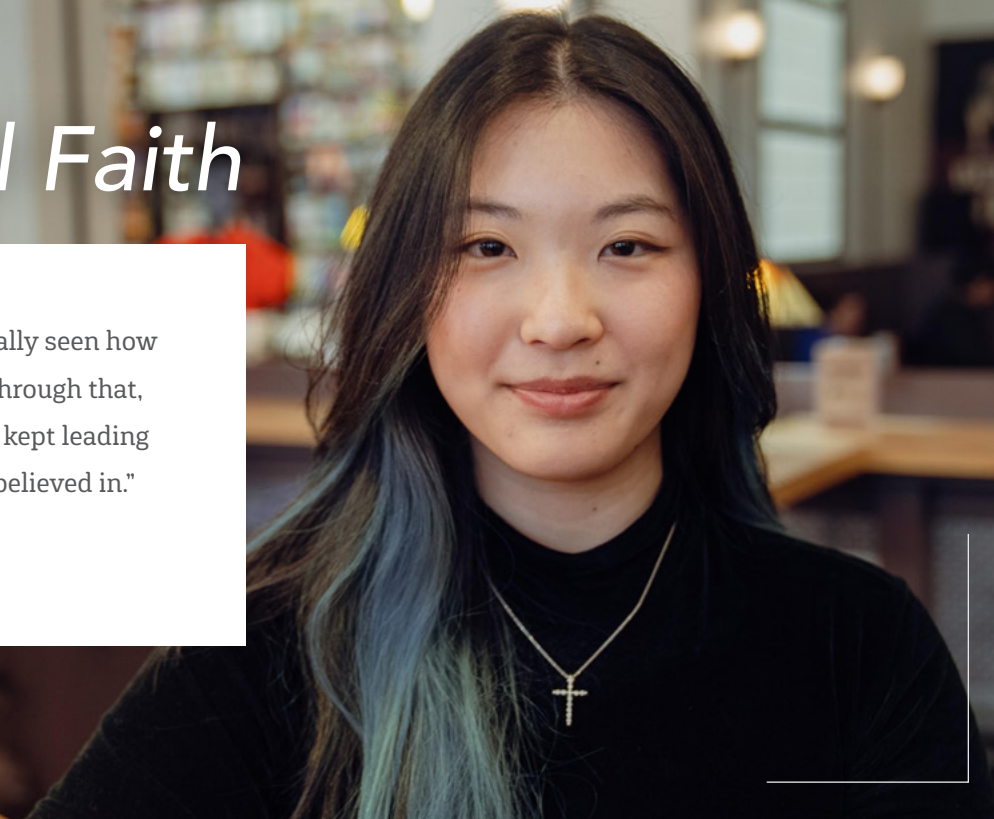

"One thing I've learned from InterVarsity is that taking risks is worth it. When we go out and profess our faith in love, there's nothing more important than that."

— Cade, UCLA

Growing Real Faith

"Through leading small groups, I've really seen how people's faith was transformed. And through that, my faith became real. I wouldn't have kept leading small groups if it wasn't something I believed in."

— Elissa, University of Washington

Investing in Tomorrow's Leaders

Students explore their calling as leaders and stewards of campus mission at the National Leadership Institute in June.

InterVarsity seeks to form faithful student leaders, equipped to lead with humility and integrity. We offered our National Leadership Institute in June this year to a select cohort of high-potential student leaders from across the fellowship.

In addition, 10,446 students attended conferences and 3,368 attended camps where they experienced spiritual refreshment, leadership training, and made deeper connections with God and with their community.

Ministry Report

Your giving in 2023-2024 made all of this possible.

MBA students and business professionals are challenged to follow Jesus in their lives and careers at our 20th annual Believers in Business conference in New York City.

InterVarsity's programs, camps, and conferences reached 62,311 students and faculty this year.

704 campuses had an established InterVarsity chapter.

9,581 students and faculty met for regular campus prayer meetings.

2,440 students and faculty made first time decisions to follow Jesus (+33% over last year!).

4,456 students went on transformative, cross-cultural discipleship and missions experiences this year.

2,640 weekly small group Bible studies were led by 5,000 student leaders across the country (+9% over last year).

25,884 core students attended more than 50% of their InterVarsity chapter activities (+11% over last year).

Financial Report

God's provision for InterVarsity has been abundant this year.

God's provision through your generosity, provided graciously for InterVarsity this year, as we stewarded your gifts for God's purposes on the many campuses where we serve. Your investment is helping to grow this generation of students into faithful disciples who follow Jesus with their whole lives, for the rest of their lives.

It has been a joy to see the fruit of God's provision in the lives of students and faculty, as well as for InterVarsity's financial health. We ended the fiscal year in a positive position. Support to InterVarsity through core donations has increased by 5% over the prior year due to both diligent fundraising for the ministry, as well as the generosity of committed partners like you. Additionally, our total expenses decreased by 7% over the prior year as we carefully monitored both spending and donations during the year. Thank you for your faithful partnership.

Called to Campus

This year we welcomed 114 new InterVarsity staff to minister to students and faculty.

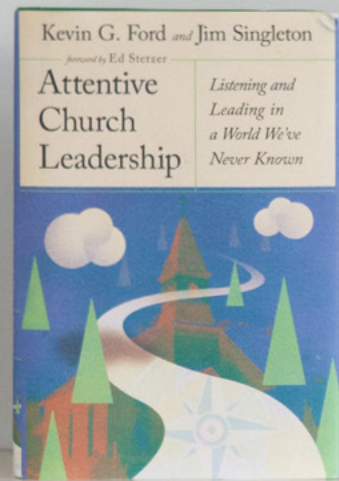

At our annual Orientation for New Staff, 114 new campus ministers received support, training, and vision for their work on campus. We are excited to see how God is continuing to grow our staff team across the country and are excited to see how he will use this new generation of campus ministers. Pray for them as they continue to lead vibrant campus communities and invite students to boldly follow Jesus.

Ambition 25

January 9–12, 2025

Ambition 25 will be held next January in Denver, Colorado. We are preparing for a powerful time of collaboration as students, faculty, campus ministers, and InterVarsity partners are equipped and empowered to start witnessing communities on new campuses and in new corners of campuses.

Urbana 25

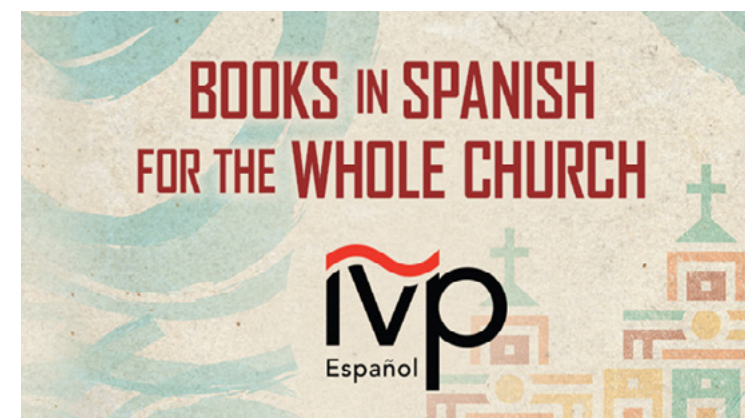

December 28–31, 2025

Urbana 25 will be held next December in Phoenix, Arizona. Our historic, triennial missions conference will invite 17-to-28-year-olds to explore God's work in the world and consider his call to global missions.
